Nursing School Admits 53 Students; Nursing Lab Completely Remodeled

By CATHY BLOMES
Of the Nursing School Staff

September 7th marked the beginning of a new school year in the Jewish Hospital School of Nursing as 53 students comprised this year's class. One of them is Ingrid Magnus, a recent arrival from Breda, Holland.

As classes resume, evidence of the construction which has taken place during the summer months in the School is apparent! One of the most essential facilities in a School of Nursing has been completely remodeled. The Nursing Arts Laboratory, wherein a student nurse begins her preparation in the art and science of nursing, has been extensively altered.

It has taken on a streamlined "new look," designed to duplicate as nearly as possible, the teaching unit in the hospital. Present facilities have been increased through full utilization of space within the demonstration room and the newly equipped nurses' station, complete with medicine cabinets and charting desk. The addition of a new demonstration platform and blackboard will enable students to observe better the procedures and techniques demonstrated by the instructors.

Color therapy is not lacking either. The demonstration room has acquired an out of doors look with "craising down the freshness, with walls done in a river" as guests of the Triangle soft, light green. Improvements such as these are made with an ultimate goal in mind, better instructional facilities to provide better nurses that the patient may receive the best in nursing care.

The health and welfare of the student nurse is also of paramount importance. Contrary to general thought, they are sometimes patients too! The Student Health Service is an integral part of the School of Nursing. Facilities for students have heretofore been maintained in the Hospital but have now been transferred to the Nurses' Residence as of September 1st.

A complete examining room and a two bed infirmary has been set up in Room 524, station 359. This arrangement releases much needed hospital space in addition to providing separate facilities for the care of students in colorful and attractive surroundings. Greater convenience is also afforded the student.

Dr. Raymond Charnas, the School physician, will continue in charge of the medical aspects of the student health program. Nursing care will be handled by Mrs. Virginia Reisinger, assisted by Mrs. Alice Gresham.

Our Auxiliary has gone "all out" in the adoption of the School of Nursing as their special project. As we go to press, their first informal tea, to "meet and greet" the new student nurses, became a reality. The tea was held in the Lounge of the Nurses' Residence, September 9. It provided an opportunity for students and Auxiliary members to become better acquainted.

Children in the vicinity of the 7700 block of Drexel ave. in University City raised $186 for polio equipment for the Jewish Hospital in their third annual carnival. The check was presented by the children to David A. Gee, assistant director of the hospital.

Those who participated in the event were: Sheryl Honigbaum, Alan Wallach, Nancy Lew., Eileen Schneider, Sandra Lew, Judy Schneider, Beverly Schneider, Jay Askovich, Billy Tennebaum, Sara Schneider, Dorine Makovsky, Carol Levin and Judy Wallach.

Dr. and Mrs. (Dorothy) Sherry reside at 8368 Delmar blvd., University City.

Dental Dept. Has Three "Firsts"

Jewish Hospitals has three dental "firsts" among local hospitals, according to Dr. Jerome S. Grosby, chairman of the hospital's dental department. They are:

The first and only St. Louis hospital with ADA accreditation of its dental department.

The first St. Louis hospital with a complete functioning dental out-patient department.

The first St. Louis hospital with a rotating dental internship.

Congratulations to Dr. Grosby and our fine dental department.

Ambulance Drive And Entrance Is In Use Already

Here is some late construction news:

The cashier's office on the first floor has moved north to Room 106.

Work is continuing on the wiring for a new paging system.

Installation of footing to support the front wing has been completed.

Construction of a new elevator shaft and installation of columns next to the front of the building facing Kingshighway, will cause the barricading of the lobbies on the ground and first floor and the waiting room on the first floor about Oct. 4.

First phase of Jewish Hospital's $7 million expansion program completed recently is the ambulance, emergency room and clinic entrance on Forest Park boulevard, Samuel C. Sachs, chairman of the building committee, has announced. Since the front of the building at 216 S. Kingshighway boulevard is undergoing major surgery, the "ambulance entrance" is being used as the main entry, Sachs said. It was designed by Architects Jamieson, Spearl, Hammond & Grolock.

Formerly in the front of the building, the ambulance entrance has a newly-built driveway of contemporary design and is covered by a concrete canopy. "A corrugated plastic shield is attached to round beams on which the canopy rests and splits the drive in two sections," according to Sachs. The shield provides a "concealed effect," he said.

Sachs said a new entrance has been constructed on the south side of the building and a temporary store room constructed on the Parkview place side. He said construction on the front of the building was far enough along so that a front entrance could again be used in a few months.

Construction has been slowed somewhat, he said, as workmen "got into a lot of mud and water between layers of rock. However, we expect to finish on schedule in two years."

The construction is the first major building and modernization program at Jewish Hospital since 1929 when the Moses Shoenberg Memorial Building was dedicated as a nurse's home. The hospital will expand from 298 to nearly 500 beds and will have three new wings.

Dr. S. Sherry New Director of Division Of Medical Services

Dr. Sol Sherry assumed direction of the hospital's Division of Medical Services (Internal Medicine, Cardiology and Heart Station, Dermatology) on Sept. 1. His offices are on the ground floor in the Division of Surgical Services.

He succeeds Dr. Harold Scheff, whose promotion to Senior Physician was recently approved by the Board of Directors. Dr. Alfred Goldman has also been appointed Senior Physician.

Dr. Sherry, first full-time director of the Division of Medical Services, will be responsible for programs of education and clinical research, for administration of the division, and for professional jurisdiction over the ward and private services in medicine. A new laboratory for his department is being completed on the ground floor.

Dr. Sherry, a graduate of New York University and New York University College of Medicine, has conducted important research in the activities and clinical application of enzymes, and has broad interests in the field of metabolic diseases. Since 1951, he has been director of the May Institute for Medical Research in Cincinnati and assistant professor of medicine at the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine.

Dr. and Mrs. (Dorothy) Sherry reside at 8368 Delmar blvd., University City.

Director of Volunteers - Personnel

With the sound of school bells becoming louder our Junior Volunteers are leaving hospital work to return to their school activities. We, at the hospital, regret this time is drawing near. We have received much help in our work from them and the sight of their bright faces and pink pinafores has been refreshing.

These girls have filled a great need in the hospital. They have conducted themselves with decorum, have been willing to do any task asked of them, no matter how tiresome or boring. They have not failed to come in on appointed days and have willingly filled in for those who were unable to keep appointments because of emergencies.

Many of the departments where they worked would have been hard pressed had they not had the extra hands of the Junior Volunteers. These Department Heads have freely expressed their appreciation for these girls. With employees on vacation, all were working with a reduced force during the summer months.

The Junior Volunteers were assigned regularly to some departments, where the need was greatest. Each day the Volunteer reported signed in at the Volunteer Office on the Ground Floor and went directly to the department assigned. At least two were kept near the Volunteer Office to be called out for special assignments, such as running errands, transporting a patient, or to do emergency rush work for a particular location. One Junior manned the Volunteer Desk from 8 a.m. until the regular Volunteer Chairman of the Day arrived. The Junior Chairman kept the volunteers assigned, took messages and interviewed any early new volunteers.

X-Ray had at least two girls assigned each morning, including Saturday. Here they helped the technicians with any work required. This included transporting patients from their rooms to the X-Ray Department and returned them to their room.

They helped the patient get ready for the X-Ray and generally assisted the Technician in any way their capabilities permitted.

Pharmacy kept their clerical work up to date and had their tables counted and packaged by these alert girls.

Obstetrics covered a three-week vacation for their Division Secretary with volunteers. The regular volunteers covered the mornings and one Junior Volunteer reported there every afternoon for the three-week period.

Other Nursing Divisions had the Juniors help with clerical and record work.

The Hospital employees extend their thanks and appreciation to the Junior Volunteers for the fine work they have done this summer and will look forward next summer to having them again.

The Situation Is Critical

By MRS. KAY KIRSTEIN
Auxiliary Publicity Chairman

What's going to happen to the volunteer program at The Jewish Hospital now that the staunch little juniors go back to school?

Auxiliary president Mrs. Robert Aronson, and volunteer chairman, Mrs. Theo Lending, say that the situation is "critical" and that only with the aid of the junior volunteers has the hospital volunteer program continued to function this summer.

The youngsters have been indispensable. Unlike many of their elders, they could always be depended upon. They did every job that was assigned to them cheerfully and efficiently. They were models of decorum. A number of them worked over 100 hours. Flitting about the hospital in their pink pinafores, neither intense heat, excavation din and dust could stop them. How we wish that we could keep them!

Who will replace them?

Auxiliary members must fill these jobs at once. Here is the most rewarding work in the world . . . and the pleasantest. No committee meetings, no staying on the telephone, no take-home worries. These are on-the-spot jobs that end when you leave the Hospital.

No previous experience or training necessary to fill a volunteer job. Your only qualifications must be dependability, a big heart and willing hands.

Call the Volunteer Desk at Jewish Hospital, FOrest 7-8080, Station 264 and an appointment for an interview will be made for you at once.

The situation is critical. It's up to you. Help Now!

Three Persons Are Added To Staff Of Miriam Center

Three persons have been added to the staff of the Miriam Rehabilitation Hospital in Webster Groves, a division of Jewish Hospital. Also, a new therapy apparatus is in use at the rehabilitation center, according to Dr. John W. Deyton, recently-appointed director.

The new staff members are Mrs. Florence L. Kinyon, occupational therapist; Mrs. Jackie Keathley, graduate of the physical therapy school of Washington University; and Mrs. Rosalind Adelberg of Toronto, Canada, a social worker.

Mrs. Kinyon received her training at the Boston School of Occupational Therapy where she graduated and has had extensive experience in this field during the war as a member of the Waves.

The new therapy machine is called "Thermo-Mist" and circulates and re-circulates hot air that is super saturated with water vapor. This prepares hot, moist applications where moist heat is needed and is used in polio treatment, sprains and muscular applications.

Dr. Deyton recently returned from Washington D.C. where he attended the annual convention of the American Congress of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

Dr. Deyton assumed his post as Miriam director only recently. He was formerly medical director of the Michigan Multiple Sclerosis Center in Detroit and came to his Jewish Hospital post from the medical Directorship of the Rehabilitation Center at Oklahoma A & M College, Technical Branch, Okmulgee, Okla.

Gift From Jewish Community Centers

A gift of $50.00 to purchase a cold steam vaporizer was received recently from the Jewish Community Centers Association.

Gilbert Harris, executive director of the association stated "the gift is in honor of the following doctors who helped us so ably in connection with the physical examination of children going to Camp Hawthorn. We appreciate their services and that of the hospital in general."

Doctors who helped are: Herbert Mazur, Maurice Keller, Marshall Greenman, Stanley Schuman, Ruth Friedman, Bernard Adler, Daniel Klaff, Harold Cutler, and Benjamin Cohen.

Gift Gallery Sale

SALE WAS ON in the Gift Gallery and many value-minded patients and hospital employees, as well as others, took advantage of the bargains.
